Stradivarius unveils its new collection with a fashion editorial starring Spanish singer Marina Reche The brand joins her on a tour of her favorite spots in Madrid, where she wears different looks from the new Stradivarius collection.

"Madrid is opportunity, it's sparkle, it's joy People come here full of excitement, ready to take on the world And that feeds you," explains Marina.

Wearing an outfit featuring an animal print skirt and poplin shirt, two of this season's key trends, the singer begins her journey through some of her favorite places in the capital Another standout look chosen by Marina is a rustic green striped co-ord with a vest and matching trousers.

"Madrid for me has been a city of opportunities It has helped me open my mind and set myself new challenges; to discover things I never knew"

In one of the city's most central squares, surrounded by flower stalls, Marina wears a denim jumpsuit paired with cobalt blue sunglasses She visits her usual bookstore in an all-black look with a strapless neckline and ends her tour at her favorite record shop in an electric blue dress with puff sleeves and an open back.
