Stradivarius launches a capsule collection with Spanish brand Hand Over

The Hand Over x Stradivarius collection is designed for fashion lovers and trendsetters A collaboration where both brands champion the use of boxers in women’s styling, elevating this garment to a must-have for the season.

With a focus on an effortless aesthetic, the collection reimagines a historically masculine item: the boxer shorts Stradivarius and Hand Over aim to break stereotypes and transform boxers into a versatile piece that can be worn on different occasions and styled in various ways.

The capsule collection features 17 pieces including several boxer styles, a pair of long trousers, a skirt, shirts, a T-shirt, a bralette top, as well as two bags and scrunchies.

The capsule combines different striped and checked prints in shades such as pastel pink, red, orange, and blue All the garments are made of poplin, with some pieces incorporating sequins.
