STRADIVARIUS

Jane Kønig x Stradivarius

/12 November, 2024

Stradivarius launches a costume jewellery collection in collaboration with Danish designer Jane Kønig.

The Jane Kønig brand, founded by the Danish-born designer of the same name, opened its first shop in the centre of Copenhagen in 1989. Since then, it has stood out for its timeless designs, inspired by an eclectic universe dominated by geometric shapes.

Jane Kønig x Stradivarius is a capsule collection composed of 18 pieces that both brands have designed together in a year in which accessories have been consolidated as key pieces in the fashion world.

The collection includes Jane Kønig's iconic triangular earrings, available in gold, silver and copper tones, and also enhanced with small rhinestone details or cascading appliqués that add movement to the pieces. The maxi-sized earrings with crescent and star silhouettes, designed with several moving parts, also stand out. The capsule is completed with two ring proposals with sparkling details and a pendant with five-pointed stars.

Elegant and minimalist, this collaboration will be available from 12 November in a selection of Stradivarius shops and on the brand's website. Jane Kønig x Stradivarius has been designed as the perfect complement to the Stradivarius party collection, adding a unique and sophisticated touch to any look.
